Powering Up Your Canvas Course, Part 5
Intermediate

1. Put a Course End Date

If you have created a Canvas course for a club and have added students to it, you should put a course end date. This way, when the year ends, the course concludes and you won't have to sort through students who aren't participating year after year. This isn't recommended for courses added by your institution that already have appropriate start and end dates.

How to Change Course End Dates

2. Print Your Canvas Calendar

While there is no direct functionality to print the calendar while in Canvas, teachers and students can subscribe to the calendar feed using a Google Calendar or Outlook.

How to Subscribe to the Calendar Feed Using Google Calendar

How to Subscribe to the Calendar Feed Using Outlook

3. Give Another Attempt on a Quiz

Students may have technical difficulties while taking a quiz and need another attempt. You can give them another attempt by going to the Quiz, clicking Moderate This Quiz on the top-right, and clicking on the Edit icon.

How to Give Another Attempt